NUTRIAL® BENEFITS

A formulation specially adapted for livestock, based on methionine, sorbitol and betain.

Sorbitol stimulates the secretion of digestive hormones, more specifically those that trigger gall-bladder contraction and that regulate the secretions of pancreatic enzymes as well as essential trace elements.

Betain is involved in and speeds up the metabolism of fatty acids in the liver.

It plays an essential role in hepatic metabolism since it prevents fat buildup and thus limit the apparition of fatty liver.

Its need is increased in the case of high energy and high density diets (laying hens and chickens, dairy and nursing cows).
